FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MORRISON VEIN INSTITUTE FOUNDER TO SPEAK AT ELITE PHLEBOLOGY CONFERENCE IN ASHBRIDGE, ENGLAND

Scottsdale, Ariz. – April 24, 2007 – Morrison Vein Institute today announced that founder Nick Morrison, M.D., F.A.C.S., F.A.C.Ph., will speak at the annual meeting of the British Association of Sclerotherapists (BAS) in Ashbridge, England, just north of London, April 26-29, 2007. Dr. Morrison will present “Hot Tips: Lessons on Foam Sclerotherapy from the Experts” to nearly 100 attendees, including surgeons, phlebologic nurses and sclerotherapists.

Dr. Morrison, a surgeon and world-renowned expert in the effective treatment of vein disorders, is the only American College of Phlebology Fellow in Arizona and has been named president-elect of the American College of Phlebology. He is honored to be the only American invited to the conference, which focuses on one of his areas of expertise – foam sclerotherapy, a new treatment that fills veins with foam and collapses them.

Conference organizer Professor Philip Coleridge-Smith, M.D., F.R.C.S., president of BAS and one of the world’s most prominent phlebologists, also invited members of the elite Euro Phlebo Club to lecture at the event. Members include the most influential and revered phlebologists in the United Kingdom and Europe.

Dr. Morrison has 30 years of experience in the treatment of venous diseases, including ambulatory phlebectomy and vascular graphs. He was the first physician in the southwest to introduce the revolutionary FDA-approved VNUS Closure® and Endovenous Laser Ablation (EVLA) procedures for the treatment of varicose vein disorders. He has completed over 2,600 VNUS Closure and EVCA procedures and over 60,000 ultrasound guided procedures. In addition to training physicians in closure procedures, Dr. Morrison has lectured internationally to both public and medical audiences.

About Morrison Vein Institute

The Morrison Vein Institute, with offices in Scottsdale and Tempe, Ariz., treats vein disorders ranging from tiny spider veins to large varicosities with ulcerations. Patients are safely cared for in one of the Institute's offices, eliminating the hassle and higher price of treatment at hospitals or surgical centers. Under the unmatched expertise and experience of founder Nick Morrison, M.D., F.A.C.S., F.A.C.Ph., Charles Rogers, M.D., James McEown, M.D. and an R.N. team specializing in phlebology, the Institute offers the most up-to-date treatments, including VNUS Closure and Endovenous Laser Treatment (EVLT), two FDA-approved procedures that efficiently close varicose veins and ultrasound guided foam sclerotherapy. The Morrison Training Institute attracts physicians, nurses and ultrasound technicians from throughout the U.S. to learn Dr. Morrison's techniques. Dr. Morrison is currently president-elect of the American College of Phlebology. For more information, visit www.morrisonvein.com or call 480-860-6455.
